An epidemic of a flu - like respiratory disease swept through Cameron and Milam County over the weekend causing city hospitals to be filled to overflowing and schools to have three times normal absenteeism.

Hospitals started to receive victims of the disease Thursday and crowded conditions exisited throughout the weekend in both hospitals.

St. Edward Hospital reported a few patients had to be placed in beds in the halls because of lack of rooms. Newton Hospital was filled to room capacity.

Cameron School Supt. Charles Zeigler reported there were about three times the normal amount of absentees in the Cameron Public Schools. Friday, 125 students were out, Monday, 140 and Tuesday was the peak of 142.

Hospitals and the Cameron Nursing Home asked that the public not visit the hospitals and the nursing home as the disease is contagious. The Nursing Home reported that none of its residents had the flu.

Prescription business was high as the druggists kept up with the orders for medicines. New supplies from drug houses were ordered. Druggists noted that the stores in Cameron had adequate supplies.

FEWER CASES

And the signs of the flu were less prevalent in Cameron Wednesday morning as the Hospitals admitted no new cases and school attendance was on the upswing. Druggists also noted a slow down in prescription orders.

Supt. Zeigler told The Herald there was an epidemic formula that the school could apply to make up for the absences caused by the flu. A certain number of students must be present to keep the same amount of state funds coming into the schools.

Danny Matula, 12, Serves As Page

Danny Matula, twelve year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix A. Matula, Jr. of Cameron, has one of the most important and exciting jobs that a youngster his age could hope to have.

He is a page boy in the House of Representatives of the Texas Legislature in Austin (See related picture, inside.)

Since this session of the 58th Legislature started on Jan. 8th, Danny has been busy with his duties in the House chamber, carrying messages and papers and running errands. He is one of the group of a dozen page boys employed there. Their hours ordinarily are from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Thursday.

Although his duties are to be at the call of any of the 150 Representatives in the House, he also works occasionally in Gov. John Connally's office in the Capital.

Danny received his appointment as a page when Rep. Milton J. Schiller of Cameron recommended him to House Speaker Byron Tunnell. So far as Schiller can recall, he is the first boy from Milam County to serve in that capacity.

During the four days he spends each week in Austin, Danny stays in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Droll, who are friends of his family. He makes the trip back and forth with Rep. Schiller.

His job, of course, has made it necessary to re - shuffle his school attendance schedule. He attends St. Anthony's School here in Cameron where he is in the sixth grade. Through an arrangement with the Sisters there, he does his school work on Friday and Saturday. So far he has maintained an A-minus average in his studies.

And how does Danny like his job as a page when he can see some of Texas' legal history in the making?

"Just Fine," seems to sum it up, according to Rep. Schiller.

County Agents Notes...

Plow Wanted For Gopher Poisoning

By J. D. Moore
Milam County Agent

Stockmen and farmers that attended the Gopher Control demonstration at the Clyde Hensley farm in the Hoyt community decided to ask the Central Texas Soil Conservation District to buy a burrow building plow to be used for poisoning gophers.

To justify the request, farmers and stockmen with gopher problems are asked to sign a request to be circulated by commissioner Bert McKinney.

Edwin Fischer, stockman and farmer at Buckholts, represents Milam County on the Central Texas Soil Conservation Board.

It is estimated that some 5,000 acres of sandy land needs gopher control to protect the increasing number of improved pastures.

Cost for controlling gophers under this plan would include a charge of $3.00 per day for the use of the plow, plus the cost of 3 pounds of poison grain per acre. The grain cost 8 cents per pound.

An operator can easily treat 70 to 100 acres in one day, depending upon the smoothness of the land, size of area to be treated, etc. For example: If a 50 acre pasture is to be treated, charge $3.00 for rent on the plow and 8 cents per pounds for 150 pounds of grain. The plow and poison cost would be $15 for controlling the gophers.

Price quotations on these plows run from $240 to $275. A welding shop could build a plow for around $150 if most of the parts were furnished.

sports herald

By James Hollas

Sickness is all over town and its effect on bowling was felt this week. John Pernice had been released from the hospital on Wednesday and Friday night he was in the league bowling.

After about eight frames he was making everyone want to go to the hospital. He ended the game with a fine 232. But the mark didn't stand long as his teammate, Rudy Richter, ripped out a 245 the next game.

And the Ladies's Sunshine League didn't bowl this week as the flu bug made its rounds and the teams, with one exception, were unable to get the required number to bowl.

-sh-

With spring weather trying to come out the golfers are starting to unlimber the clubs and chase the little white ball all over the place.

And a golf story seems in order. A couple of Texas oilmen started to take up golf. They purchased all the equipment and had a chauffeur drop them off at the local country club. They were informed by the management that they couldn't play that afternoon.

"Why not?" they demanded indignantly.

"Because," the manager told them, "there are no caddies."

The oil tycoons looked at each other for a few moments. Then one said, "So who cares? For one afternoon we'll take a Buick."

And just a few thoughts about the sport.

--Golf is a lot of walking, broken up by disappointment and bad arithmetic.

--A golfer is a guy who can walk several miles toting a hundred pounds of equipment, but who has Junior bring him an ash tray.

-- Golf is like taxes; you drive hard to make the green and then wind up in the hole.

--To put is to place a thing where you want it. To putt is a vain attempt to do the same thing.

ROCKDALE WINS BI - DIST. BASKETBALL

The Rockdale Tigers, District 19 AA basketball Champs, took a 12 point victory over the Lockhart Lions in Austin Tuesday.

Rockdale gained the right to enter the Region III tournament in College Station this weekend with the 58-46 win. Rockdale also defeated Lockhart in the bi - district football game last fall.

Ronnie Menn led the Tiger attack both on defense and on offense as he rebounded well and sank 16 points. Nathan Baker took the second spot with 12 points.

Hank Fielder was the top man for the Lions before fouling out. He scored 25 points.

Rockdale led all the way and had a 27-23 lead at half time.

The Tigers will be in the playoffs with the always powerful Buna team. The Buna team will be the favorite to win the tournament. They topped Humble in their bi-district contest 52-37.

'Keep Paving And Paving and Paving'

Just the mention of redoing the downtown streets of Cameron has an excellent effect on community attitudes.

If carried through, the project could have the same wholesome effect on downtown building improvements that new streets and curbing have had in residential sections of the city.

There is the old bugaboo of how to pay for it; but that seems of less concern than actually doing it, getting some business district signs pointing into town from the various highways and bringing Cameron full cycle in quest of remodeling.

Street improvements, more than ever, will mean much to Cameron. A considerable amount of basic work on grades, some drainage, sewerline extension has been done over the years.

New streets could be the "cream on the coffee," something that Cameron can finally point to and say: "This street program is city wide and growing!"

In a community survey almost four years ago, construction of streets was everyone's No. 1 choice for civic improvement. Drainage and sewerline actually needed before street construction is possible, ranked lower, but has been getting primary attention.

In a nutshell, a broad street program both downtown and residential means good business. Some day, perhaps soon, maintenance cost of asphalt patching will exceed the current outlay of street construction funds, time away from actual construction as well as patching materials and labor all figured.

We suggest that you speak to your City Councilman about the proposed downtown paving project. Encourage your City to design a program somewhat like Rosebud's where streets are retopped periodically.

There's no better time than now. Like the ad suggests: "Let's keep paving and paving and paving . . ."

THE OLD PHILOSOPHER

Philosopher Amazed To Find Our New Yorkers Prefer Local News, Same As Rest Of Us

Dear editar:

Iknow everybody is supposed to be international - minded these days, that it's only ten hours by jet from this Johnson grass farm to the other side of the world, if you could find a place to take off from, or land when you get there, that it's only 20 minutes by missile and one of those things doesn't need a landing field, and so I try to keep abreast of things and not upset world affairs, in fact, lots of time I have left off important work that should have been done around here until I had studied its effect on DeGaule's thinking, if you want to call it that -- not going to catch me repairing a fence if it's going to keep England out of the Common Market, but last night I ran across an item that makes me coubt if some areas of the nation are keeping up with this advanced notion.

In fact, the area is New York City.

Now you'd think New Yorkers, with all their metropolitan advantages, would be in the lead in world thinking. But according to this article, the thing that New Yorkers miss most while the city is without newspapers due to the strike is local news.

They can find out from out - of-town newspapers shipped in what the Cuban situation is, or what it isn't, depending on who's saying it; what the situation is in Europe; what Krhushchev has pledged this morning but not necessarily what he has done this afternoon; what Congress has done, or things it's done, and things like that, but this doesn't satisfy them. What they want to know is what's happening in New York.

This bowled me over, or would have if I hadn't been stretched out at the time. You mean to say New Yorkers are just like people in Cameron? That New York women are interested in New York weddings first and the national budget second? That what happens to people they know is more interesting than the situation in the Congo? That plans for repairing a worm - out street on your way to work is more fascinating than building a foreign - aid dam on the Nile?

Understand, this doesn't mean the people in New York or Cameron aren't interested in the national budget and maybe even in the Congo, but a steady diet of the budget and the Congo leaves out a lot of flavors. As long as people are people, the New York Times and The Cameron Herald will never be replaced by distant papers without any home - town news. This may not be international - minded, but you and me and them New Yorkers just can't help it.

Yours faithfully,

J. A.

4-H WEEK

The period from March 2 - 9 has been proclaimed 4-H Week in Texas by Governor John Connally. The same period will also be observed as National 4-H Week; thus 4-H members across the nation will be making a special effort to acquaint the general public with their work. Four-H or similar youth organizations are now operating in more than 50 foreign countries.

Hospitals Play Important Part

By Vern Sanford --

AUSTIN — Hospitals have been playing an important part in State government.

While Gov. John B. Connally was recuperating from a hernia operation, the state senate turned thumbs down on his choice of former Supreme Court Justice W. St. John Garwood as a University of Texas regent.

The man who sponsored Garwood -- Sen. Charles Herring of Austin -- also was recuperating from an operation: an appendectomy.

Attempts at bedside maneuvers by both to get a senatorial confirmation for the prominent Texan failed and the appointment was turned down by an estimated minority of 12-16.

It takes a two - thirds majority to approve an appointment.

Governor Connally issued a statement, saying he was "bitterly disappointed that a minority group of the Senate prevented confirmation of Judge Garwood."

He added, "To me, it seems inconceivable that the people of Texas could be denied the services of a man of exceptional intellect, a man of great capacities, and a man of deep devotion to the University and his State."

The governor said he had hoped the senate might choose to reconsider its action but had not further comment at this time.

GAME — PARKS MERGER

Senate spent most of the week spinning its wheels. But over in the House of Representatives one of Governor Connally's major reorganizations -- merging the Game and Fish Commission and the State Parks Board into a single three - member "Parks and Wildlife Commission" - was pushed through by a two to one majority.

Rep. James Cotten of Weatherford, long a foe of the Game and Fish Commission, carried the measure through the house, and committed himself to vote to provide general tax revenues to support the parks system once they are merged.

COUNTY SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENTS

A heavy majority in the House favors ousting county school superintendents in 86 counties. They voted to cut off state aid to them. Aim is to force the voters to say "yes" or "no" on whether they want to keep them at county tax expense, after their present terms run out in 1966.

If this proposal gets through as it now stands in the House, the state saving will be more than $1,000,000.

Counties affected are those with no more than two rural school districts under the county official's supervision.

COASTAL PROBLEMS

One sick industry on the coast got a shot in the arm when a bill by Rep. Bill Walker of Cleveland and Rep. Neil Caldwell of Alvin, to cut the state occupation tax on sulphur producers from $1.40 a ton to $1.03 was passed by the House.

This would reduce state revenue from sulphur taxes by $970,000 the first year. But Walker estimated an increase in business would make up at least half of that.

PADRE ISLAND - PARK APPROVED

A noisy but brief flurry attended final House passage of Rep. Menton J. Murray's bill to make a National Seashore of Padre Island. But the Harlingen representative's bill passed by a 126-19 vote.

A slightly - different version of this proposal, one by Sen. Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi, already had passed the Senate.

It is expected that the first bill to get committee approval by the other chamber will go to a joint conference committee.

Some coastal legislators were hoping the matter will be settled in time for April consideration by Congress, where appropriations must be made to finance the purchase of privately - owned land on the island.

COUNTY BUILDING HIKE OKAYED

A bill by Rep. Vernon Beckham of Denison, designed to solve a local problem, may prove helpful for rural counties.

It would allow county commissioner's courts to spend up to $200,000 for county buildings, outside the county seats. Present law limits this expenditure to $150,000.

Bill was passed by the House, 143-0.

County seat of Grayson County is Sherman. But Denison -- in the same county -- is almost as big and as busy. Therefore an adjunct county courthouse building is under construction there. Building and property costs have risen so that the Denison courthouse can't be finished until the increase is authorized.

COMMITTEES BUSY

Senate and House committees have accomplished quite a bit--either by positive or negative action -- to settle some legislative issues.

They have given a green light to a bill to raise the age ceiling from 14 to 16 on the state's program of aid to dependent children (an effort to keep needy children in sch-

Given a friendly reception to the bill by Rep. W. H. Miller of Houston to require seat belt anchors in all new cars sold in Texas ....

Given cool reception to a series of Senate - proposed constitutional amendments and bills designed to revise -- and eventually eliminate -- the state property tax, and level it to local units of government.

Approved a Senate bill to set up a new school for mentally-retarded children in Corpus Christi. Another bill to create a similar school somewhere west of the 100th meridian in West Texas is set for a Senate committee hearing on March 20.

BUDGET HEARINGS

In two quiet rooms in the Capitol and one in the Sam Houston State Office Building, budget hearings are grinding toward an end by the Senate Finance and House Appropriations committees, and by Governor Connally's budget staff.

These groups have the most influence on how the state's $3,000,000,000 income will be spent in the two years starting September 1.

Their figuring will determine whether the hearings by the House Revenue and Tax committee eventually will turn into serious consideration of bills for sales tax revisions.

It's very likely that the first bill to increase taxes will be one revising the exemption on outer clothing under $10 and other items, to raise sales tax revenue by $10,000,000 a year.

COURT RULES ON SAFETY LAW

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the State Department of Public Safety, cautioned drivers of publicly - owned vehicles that they must comply with the provisions of the state's responsiblity law.

Garrison said that a recent ruling by the Waco Court of Civil Appeals confirmed the fact that the law must be complied with by drivers of publicly owned vehicles. The safety responsibility law requires everyone involved in an accident to show his ability to pay for damages caused to others.

This can be done by purchasing a liability insurance policy; by obtaining written releases from damaged persons; or by depositing cash in the amount of damages with the Department of Public Safety.

House Committee on Insurance has approved a bill by Rep. Robert Fairchild of Center which would strengthen and stiffen the safety responsibility law. Under this bill, if anyone failed to prove financial responsibility, the DPS could take his driver's license, as well as his car license plates.

GOVERNOR'S APPOINTMENTS

Governor Connally has made these new appointments:

Everett Fulgham of Lubbock has been named to the State Securities Boards.

Appointed to the Board of Regents of State Teachers Colleges are Clayton Heare, Amarillo; Ottis Lock, Lufkin; and Dr. Jose San Martin, San Antonio.

W. S. Bellows Jr. of Houston will fill the unexpired term of Joe Ed Winfree, also of Houston, on the Board of Control.

Dear Sir,

Congratulations on your editorial about the peace corps last week. It's refreshing to see a central Texas newspaper taking a realistic look at this new way to dispose of the taxpayers surplus funds.

However, your questions were directed primarily at the proposed domestic corps. I would like to ask similar questions about the foreign corps in regard to its mission to alleviate "mass misery" abroad. The "generally acknowledged" success you speak of exists primarily in the "managed news" press of the administration . . . and in tax - supported public relations.

To be sure, any kind of help coming to people in distress is "successful" -- but neither the recipient nor the taxpayers are getting their money's worth through the peace corps. Senator Tower has presented facts and figures showing that missionaries do the same work at a fraction of the cost -- and they do it in the name of their religion, financed through entirely voluntary contributions. A vastly different thing from welfare extorted from the American wage-earner.

It is not uncharitable to take a hard look at the financing of this project. The very existence of any kind of charity rests on the backs of people who have been financially "successful". How do they measure the "success" of teaching backward people (whether in Timbuctoo or in Texas) the fine arts of anthropology, astronomy, or tennis? (subjects listed in the corps skill classification.) They are nice things to know -- but not at our expense.

There is one last question I would ask: does anyone seriously think the Kennedy administration would ever stop this boon - doggling -- or ever attempt to operate it economically? That sounds like a contradiction in terms -- and it is, in more ways than one.

Sincerely,
H. P. Tumlinson

Dear Sirs;

I want to renew my subscription for another year and enclose my check for $3.57 to cover.

In my book you deserve a pat on the back for two articles in last week's Herald -- one for your editorial (a corps of questions about idealism) and for the newsy article from Austin by Vern Sanford.

The happenings and doings of Cameron and Milam County are always of interest to me.

Take your problems to Church this week millions leave them there!

A Reward That Passes All Understanding

"If you would build a better . . . mouse trap, the world will make a beaten path to your door."

Better still, if you render unselfish service to your fellowmen, even though the world may or may not honor you during your lifetime, peace of mind and a soul-satisfying reward that "passes all understanding" will be yours. This accomplishment isn't easy, but when the cause is embarked upon and followed through, it pays off in serenity, joy and satisfaction. For proof of this we need only to study the life of One who was sent to earth to live the perfect life as an example to us all.

How may we lose ourselves in service to the extent that we no longer think of self? The answer is by sincere, faithful attendance at church. Here we may gain the knowledge, the courage, the power, the love and faith to live the life that brings peace and joy to the inner self.

COTTON PICKERS

Texas cotton growers in 1962 used 6,777 spindle - type pickers and 37,540 stripper - type machines to harvest about three - fourths of the planted acreage. The increase in acreage harvested by machines was considerable, according to Fred C. Elliott, extension cotton specialist. He added that lateral oiling for grass and weed control was used on three times as many acres in 1962 as in 1961. More than 44,000 growers were assisted in fitting cotton into a balanced farming program under the 7-Step Cotton Program, he said.

CONSTRUCTION ADVICE

A new catalogue listing construction plans for farm buildings and equipment is available at the office of Texas county agents. This is a good time of the year to make plans for needed repairs and new buildings, says W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer.
